2023 Proposal:
Daily Meditation Book

You may remember that four years ago, the literature committee began collecting submissions from you, for a daily meditation book. It is now in our sights to bring this project to fruition. We know that the fellowship is anxious for this book to be completed, and we know you have been waiting patiently these last four years. Our fellowship is not large enough for the sale of our books and brochures to pay for future projects. Literature is our largest expense, and our largest act of service.

This proposal is to ask the fellowship if they wish to spend the large amount of money to get the meditation book completed quickly, or if you are willing to continue to wait for this much anticipated piece of literature.

Option A: We continue to allow the literature committee to commit resources and find creative ways to turn the raw submissions into a daily meditation book. This could take anywhere from two to five years.

Option B: We pay our professional editor up to $10,000 to turn our raw submissions into a daily meditation book. This would take approximately five months to complete.

Please have your Delegate ready to vote for either option A or B during the World Service Conference (WSC), held on January 28th & January 29th, 2023.
